City telephone CDR update: request and delivery

Selected passages from June 2026 request and reply PDFs, beside the retained files' formats and date ranges. Phone numbers, email addresses, signatures and call-log entries are omitted. Quoted text preserves source wording; file observations are labeled separately.

June 1 · Moring request

> "This request updates the City's prior telephone call-log production, which appears to stop on March 3, 2026. Please produce the same type of telephone call-detail records ... beginning immediately after the last records in the prior production."

The request also says the end date is when the City receives it, and permits later records through export time if readily available.

June 2 · Webster delivery and closure

> "Here is the link." "This request is now closed."

The retained delivery is an XLSX workbook titled as March 3 records. Moring objected that later dates were missing.

June 3 · Webster explanation

> "The spreadsheet reflects data as of March 3 because no end date was specified in the request. The City interpreted the scope based on that date provided."

Webster directed a new request and said another fee would apply; compare the June 1 end-date wording above.

June 3 · Moring replacement request

> "Treat this as a new TPIA request only because you are refusing to supplement the June 1 request. My agreement to pay is made under protest."

The new request specifies March 4 through the new export time in the same or similar structured format.

June 15 · payment and later file

> "Payment has been completed for the $15.00 invoice ... this payment is made under protest."

The retained June 15 delivery is a 76-page PDF titled as March 3 records. Moring objected to that date range.

June 16 · next delivery

> "Here is the link to the information."

The retained file is a 3,974-page PDF titled as March 3–June 1 records. Moring objected to its cutoff and its PDF format.

What this comparison establishes

The saved sequence contains two requests and three deliveries: one XLSX workbook and two PDFs. The quoted June 1 end-date language conflicts with Webster's stated reason for limiting the first delivery to March 3. The sequence does not establish system holdings, final export settings or a legal conclusion about the fees.
