Both administrative appeals were granted, both requests were remanded to EPA Region 6, and both of Region 6's estimated final-response dates have now passed without a substantive updated status or production.

Region 6 estimated a July 6 final response, promised interim responses as records became available, and said it would contact me if it could not meet that estimate. After the date passed, I followed up on July 8. I received only an automatic travel reply and no substantive response, revised completion date, interim production, or final response.

Region 6 estimated a July 12 final response and planned interim releases. That estimate passed without a final response, interim release, or revised completion date. This is the same underlying EPA request included in my earlier OGIS submission, but it has since been adjudicated on appeal and remanded.
